

United Press International
1 May 1985

Madison, Wis.

The University of Wisconsin-Madison Faculty Senate will meet next Monday on whether the Central Intelligence Agency and other such groups can conduct job interviews on campus.

The resolution forwarded by the senate's University Committee rejects arguments of anti-CIA groups that the CIA should be barred because it allegedly conducts illegal and immoral activities.

The faculty senate will also receive a University Committee report on the February visit to the campus of Pieter Claassen, a South African lecturer.